Dear McNair Scholars,

Each scholar should graduate with a curriculum vita – a CV – (an extended résumé that reflects professional and academic experiences, service, accomplishments, and other relevant information). Indeed, one can create a CV different ways.

Below is one way to do a CV. You should be consulting with your faculty mentor to get other ideas. Or, you can just ask your mentor for a copy of his or her CV. Or, you can do a web search of faculty CVs at the institution where you want to go to graduate school.

Once you complete your CV, which may need to be alter depending on the positions you apply for, be sure to send a copy to the McNair office for your file.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Wallace Southerland III, Ph.D.
